The university and the city

See Living and Studying in Hamburg:
<http://ifsh.de/en/teaching/mps/>

Hamburg is a port-town with almost 2 million inhabitants and the second largest city in Germany. It has a lively, open-minded community, is a melting pot for people from all over the world, Europe's gate to China, and has a lot of cultural, sports and leisure activities to offer. The University of Hamburg and the Institute for Peace Research and Security Policy (IFSH) offer many courses conceptually affiliated to the content of the EMA programme. EMA Students will join a group of approximately 15 resident students of the international master programme Peace and Security Studies (M.P.S.). They can take part in workshops of the Centre for OSCE Research or of the Centre for European Peace and Security Studies, participate in study trips but also take classes offered by cooperating faculties of the University (Social Sciences, Law, Natural Sciences and Peace Studies). The expertise of the IFSH staff is particularly focussed on the role of European institutions (e.g. EU, OSCE) in strengthening peace and security.

Second semester courses

Courses available for EMA students:

Study trips (EU/NATO institutions Brussels, OSCE/UN institutions Vienna), workshops, seminars.

The two core courses are organised in form of international study trips that can count for a total of 9 credits, depending on the number and form of activities and assessment chosen by the student (e.g. formulation of minutes, a written text and a written paper). Alternatively, students can participate in workshops or regular semester courses at the University of Hamburg. One credit equates for a workload of 30 hours. EMA students will be offered an individually tailored programme after arrival. Each EMA student will have an individual mentor for the whole semester.

Deadline for enrolment in the courses: The students should arrive on 19 February 2017 at IFSH for an introduction. The two week-long study trips will take place in April (to Vienna) and May (to Brussels). Examination procedures: Written paper and test (for study trips and workshops), written paper and/or oral presentation for regular courses.
